

Locals

Mrs. R. Lyons and T. B. Lyons, Jr., arrived this week from Honolulu.

W. S. Chillingworth and family have gone to Honolulu to spend Christmas with relatives.

S. E. Kalama was a returning passenger by the Mauna Kea from Honolulu this week.

J. M. Dowsett will spend Christmas on Maui. He arrived Wednesday evening by the Mauna Kea.

P. H. Pharo, of the Wailuku Orpheum, went to Honolulu last Saturday, returning on Tuesday.

Mrs. Howell, who has been in Honolulu for some days, returned by the Mauna Kea on Wednesday evening.

C. C. James arrived from Honolulu on Wednesday evening to spend Christmas with his family in Kulaha.

J. W. Olsen, bookkeeper of the Hailu Fruit & Packing Co., went to Honolulu Monday night for a short visit.

Miss Malone, who has been at the Settlement House, Wailuku, and at Kula, returned to Honolulu last Saturday.

Miss Beulah Drinkie and Mrs. Cora Gossin left on Wednesday for the Volcano, where they will spend about a week.

Miss Charlotte Turner, of Wailuku, is the guest of Miss Mosser, of Paia. She will probably be away for about two weeks.

Miss A. Z. Hadley and Miss Mary Bills, of Honolulu, are guests of Mrs. Harry Wells, at Kulaha, during the Christmas holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Rice, who have been on the coast for several weeks, returned home Wednesday evening, having arrived by the Wilhelmina.

Judge W. S. Edings, accompanied by his daughter, who recently arrived from the Coast, returned from Honolulu last Saturday. Miss Edings will make her home with her father here in Wailuku.

Miss Elliott and Miss Coupe, of Paia, and Miss Johnson, of Ewa, Oahu, who is Miss Elliott's guest, made the trip over the Ditch trail on Monday, returning on Wednesday. They went as far as Keanae valley by the upper trail, returning by the lower trail.

Charles M. Thurston, representing the Standard Oil Company, was on Maui for several days last week. Mr. Thurston stated that plans are on foot which will mean that consumers of gasoline on Maui will be able to get the product at considerably lower price than at the present time.

Mrs. A. L. Case, of Hamakua, and her sister Miss Coupe, will leave by the Mauna Kea on January 5 for the Coast. Miss Coupe will not return, but Mrs. Case will be back in two or three months time. Miss Coupe has made many friends on Maui during her several months visit, who will be sorry to see her leave. Mrs. Case is making the trip for the benefit of her health.

DEPUTY SHERIFF ILL.

Because Deputy Sheriff E. J. Silva, of the Hana district, has been laid up for the past two weeks with a severe attack of sciatica, Sheriff Clem Crowell spent most of last week at Hana looking after the affairs of his deputy's office. He returned to Wailuku on Wednesday. Silva is still ill, but his condition is much improved.

SANTA CLAUS AT KAHULUI.

F. W. Jennings, with the aid of very liberal padding, made an ideal Santa Claus at the Christmas tree celebration at the Kahului Sunday school, on Wednesday evening, according to the unanimous vote of the very large crowd of children and others who attended this very pleasant event. An unusually pretty tree and a great array of candies and other gifts were the chief features of the evening.

LOST VALUABLES FOUND.

Mrs. Hill, of the teaching corps of the Wailuku public school, lost her handbag containing $35 in cash and a watch, while en route to Lahaina on Wednesday to take the boat for the Volcano. The property was picked up by P. J. Goodness, a short time later, but Mrs. Hill, who continued on her journey, has not yet learned of her good fortune.

SANTA CLAUS AT MISSION.

In spite of the fact that the rain interfered to some extent, the Christmas tree for the children of the Chinese mission last Saturday, was a great success. Children from all Central Maui were present. Much of the success of the occasion was due to the hard work of Miss Turner, who had charge of the mission. The Rev. Mr. Ikui played Santa Claus very satisfactorily to the little ones.

On the Other Islands

Japanese Society May Fail.

Because the Japanese Merchants' Association of Honolulu has withdrawn all its connection with the project, it is thought that the newly organized Japanese society, which was launched following the refusal of the Territorial authorities to permit a Japanese aviator to fly on Oahu, will be unable to survive. The commerce association at a recent meeting, adopted a resolution opposing the plan of Sheba, Makino, and other leaders at this time.

Sidestepping the Floral Parade.

Out of a list of twenty-six representative professional and business men of Honolulu, interviewed by the Star-Bulletin as to their views of holding a floral parade in connection with the Carnival, only three indicated they would participate. Most of the others favored the parade—for others to assume the trouble and expense.

Treasury Department Officials Here.

W. N. Tidwell and L. W. Bean, representatives of the Treasury Department of the federal government, are in Honolulu looking over the affairs of the local customs service and internal revenue service. Mr. Tidwell, when here several years ago secured the abolition of the sub-custom office at Kahului.

Nature Man Doesn't Like Hawaii.

William Pester, the "nature man," who arrived here from the coast some time ago, has returned to Honolulu from Kona and announces that he will go back to Los Angeles as soon as he can raise the money to pay his fare. He reported that he did not find Kona a good place for his profession.

Woolen Mill For Hawaii.

The Honolulu Chamber of Commerce has received a letter from the Wilbur Woolen Mills Company, of Stayton, Oregon, advising that the company is considering moving its plant to Hawaii.

Disgrace of Arrest Too Much.

Thinking that he was utterly disgraced by being gathered in by the police on a charge of being drunk, a Korean, who had been placed in a cell at the Hilo jail to sober up, nearly managed to slip into eternity by choking himself slowly with a rope that he made out of strips of his shirt. The man was almost dead when discovered.

Alleged Attempt to Wreck Vessel.

A story comes from Hilo of an attempt made by unknown persons to cause the German refugee steamer O. J. D. Ahlers to be cast ashore and wrecked, by cutting the hawser by which the vessel was made fast to a buoy. It is alleged that this occurred on November 5, but the captain of the steamer kept the matter a secret until it came out in the course of a controversy on another subject.

Hilo Wharf Badly Damaged.

The request of the superintendent of public works for at least $10,000 for repairs on the new Kuhio Bay wharf, brings out the fact that the structure suffered serious damage from the storm of several weeks ago. Superintendent Forbes says that unless this amount is spent at once the damage will amount to $100,000 in a short time.

Coffee Pest Appears in Kona.

An insect pest is said to be destroying thousands of coffee trees in the Kona district of Hawaii. Much concern is felt, and appeals have been made to the department of agriculture for help.

Branch Office in Hilo.

A branch of the U. S. Internal Revenue office is to be opened in Hilo. Otto Berndt, of the Honolulu staff, will be placed in charge.

Rev. A. Craig Bowdish, of the Makawao Union Church, will preach on next Sunday especially to the Masonic orders on Maui. Special invitations have been sent out to members to attend.

Ford Auto Branch to Be Established Here

Gus Schuman, head of the Schuman Carriage Company, was on Maui several days last week. It is understood that his visit had to do with the establishment of a local agency for the Ford automobile, of which the Schuman Company are agents in Honolulu. The Ford Company has been negotiating for a Maui branch for some time, where a stock of cars might be carried in stock. On his recent trip through the East Mr. Schuman, it is understood, arranged to carry out the wishes of the company in this regard.

Christmas Tree at Paia Community House

Delightful Event For Children of Makawao-Paia District—Complaint About Methods of Marketing Division.

(Special Correspondence.)

MAKAWAO, Dec. 23.—Friday afternoon, the 18th, a most successful "Christmas tree" entertainment was given in the Community House, Paia, for the Sunday school members of the Makawao Union Church.

The program consisted of suitable choruses and two elaborate plays, one entitled "The Night After Christmas" by Maunaloa Seminary girls and the other, "The Night Before Christmas" by pupils of the Hamakua High School. Both farces introduced many pretty costumes and were admirably rendered.

After the entertainment a large tree in the rear of the stage, prettily decorated and illuminated with colored lights became the center of observation and the Santa Claus of the last play presented gifts to the one hundred and sixty members of the Sunday school. Both the tree and the hall were lighted by electricity, the windows being darkened for the occasion. Large wreaths of Hawaiian holly and leis of fern comprised the interior decorations.

Refreshments were served and later candy and oranges were distributed. In addition to the one hundred sixty young people, fifty or sixty elders were in attendance.

Mrs. Baldwin and Miss Heuser had charge of the program and committees from the Ladies' Aid Society looked after the selection of gifts, refreshments and tree-decoration.

Altogether the event was most pleasing to young and old and the conveniences of the new Community House showed to good advantage.

According to reports coming in from the Kula section, the new farmers' association is not always satisfactory in its methods. The Honolulu market seems to be a limited one and easily overstocked. Word comes to Maui that a certain product is in demand, but when the farmers forward their onions, sweet potatoes or whatever asked for, information at times comes back that no sale has been possible and that their staples have been thrown into the sea. Such episodes as the above mentioned have a discouraging effect upon an illiterate farming population. A suggested solution of the matter is that the services of a commission merchant either at Kahului or Honolulu be obtained to act solely for the Maui small farmers.

Pretty Christmas Tree at Kulaha Homesteads

An exceedingly pretty Christmas entertainment was that given on Wednesday evening at Kulaha school house. The attendance was large, and the excellent program was greatly enjoyed.

A beautiful Christmas tree was one of the chief features of the event. The evening closed with distribution of a large amount of fruits and candy among the children of the community present.

Many Attend Hoike at Kaahumanu Church

The usual Christmas hoike of the C. E. societies and Sunday schools of the central Maui churches was held this year at the Kaahumanu church, practically the whole of Christmas day being devoted to the program. The attendance was large, and represented the churches at Waihee, Waiakapu, Wailuku, Kahului, Hamakua, and Paia.

Mary Pickford to Be Seen Again

Wonderfully Popular Actress Will Appear in Her Latest Movie Success at Wailuku Orpheum Next Week—"Eagle's Mate" is Thrilling Play.

The Wailuku Orpheum has a surprise in store in its announcement of a return engagement of charming little Mary Pickford, "America's Little Sweetheart," or "Our Mary," as the "Maude Adams of the Movies" is variously known. This charming little idol of the devotees of the silent drama who is paid a salary of $2000 a week to perform for the entertainment of her host of admirers will appear at the Orpheum next Tuesday night, in "The Eagle's Mate," one of her latest successes.

In the "Eagle's Mate," a vitally gripping drama of the mountain country, abounding in honest, exquisite and poignant thrills, written by Anna Alice Chapin, Mary Pickford portrays the delightful fascinating character of little Anemone, a dainty slip of beauty, adorably girlish, tantalizingly wilful, gloriously feminine.

A romance of the moonshiner and revenue man, in the fastnesses of the Blue Ridge mountains of Virginia, "The Eagle's Mate," pictures an epoch that is rapidly becoming history, and pictures it with the usual faithfulness of the Famous Players Film Co.
